

Transforming property sector

GIFT NDOLWANE

THE South African Institute for Black Property Practitioners (SAIBPP) has recognised a number of companies for commitment to driving transformation in the sector.

Growth Point Properties, Multi

Spectrum Property Developments, National Urban Reconstruction and Housing Agency (NURCHA), Nedbank, Services Sector Education and Training Authority (Services SETA) and Tongaat Hullet received accolades at an event held in Johannesburg.

The awards were among the highlights of the just-concluded third SAIBPP annual convention held in the city.

The 2016 edition celebrated a milestone 20 years in existence for SAIBPP. SAIBPP is a Section 21 company with an objective is to lead transformation within the South African property sector by facilitating economic participation and skills development for previously disadvantaged individuals.

Through our various programmes, events and strong relationships with public sector and the business community, SAIBPP aims to ensure more representative participation in the property industry. – CAJ News
